INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGN

I. INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGN

Through Balik sa Dagat (Return to the Sea) Bangka (Canoe) Journey, we take a step towards peaceful healing. We invite you to become 'artist-healers'¹ by practicing art and healing as an empowerment and community-building process.

A. Purpose:

The purpose of this shared training is to empower participants in a safe environment to experience the healing capabilities of creating with our hearts, our hands, our minds, our bodies and our spirit.

B. Intentions:

- 1) To provide space for creativity and a space to remember our shared connections and move forward in awareness.
- 2) For mind: To share dreams of the bangka, collaborate, and build communities through movement of the mind, sounds, storytelling, and mini-watercraft-building.
- 3) For body: To encourage participants to reconnect with their body and spirit and to realize their ability to facilitate healing individually and as part of a community.
- 4) For spirit: To reconnect with our ancestors, the soul of the bangka, balik sa dagat/return to the sea; building dream bridges with rainbows across the oceans for future generations (rainbows signifying diversity of peoples, gender, age and cultures).
- 5) To reconnect, align, transform and heal from trauma. We paddle onward and forward.

This is one of the stories of resilience and strength of a collective healing journey to end sexual violence. It was the first time the participant created a Peace Bangka. ©BSDBJ 2014

C. Learning Objectives:

By the end of the training participants will be able to experience and describe how images, movement, music, and mini-watercraft-building facilitate healing.

D. Target Population:

The target population is NAPIESV's identified organizations and future trainers. Size: 15-20 participants

E. Length and Format:

An 8-hour session of training on healing that includes meditation, sharing stories, mini-watercraft building, music, writing, sounds and practicing movement as part of NAPIESV's training program.

F. Guidance for the Facilitator:

- a) Facilitator to prepare and give multiple HANDOUTS (#1-15) in a folder/packet for each participant. Highly encourage to use recycled products and/or be creative with supplies for craft-making and use what is readily available.
- b) Helpful tips as guidance for those who may be reluctant in participating in this innovative workshop.
 - 1. Be respectful and speak in truth and from the heart.
 - 2. Create a supportive environment.

Important Friendly Reminders: Take time to take care of yourself throughout the day of activities. Step outside and/or Seek help. Consider having a support system in place such as a therapist or counselor available on site. Have a list of local resources available to participants.

- 3. Build craft-vessels as if you were teaching them to yourself.
- 4. Honor cultural traditions and diversity.

Section 1. A WARM WELCOME

TIME: 30 minutes

IMPORTANT FRIENDLY REMINDERS

Take time to take care of yourself throughout the day of activities. Step outside and/or Seek help. Consider having a support system in place such as a therapist or counselor available on site. Have a list of local resources available to participants.

BACKGROUND ON HEALING

The following proposal excerpt is from NAPIESV's Listening Session Report 2012 as presented at the NAPIESV's 1st Summit No One Can Tell Our Stories But Us, A Dialogue on Sexual Violence in Asian and Pacific Islander Communities, in San Diego, California, in September 2013:

*'We need to value the important role of healing in our work. The healing goes beyond a medical "let's fix what's wrong" way, but healing for a deeper, spiritual and political need. We must value healing for the sake of our collective joy, safety and well-being. We must create spaces that go beyond offering testimonies and tackles the work of what collective healing would look like for our communities. We cannot continue to only fight a world we don't want, but we must also heal so that we can imagine new futures for ourselves and create a world we do want. The work of healing is political because it will significantly shift how we are able to be in relationships with one another, how we are able to build community and movement, and what we can believe is possible. For many of us, it is hard to accept that healing is possible. What would it mean to begin healing from not only generational sexual violence, but also from colonization, war, imperialism or internalized oppression? Imagine the transformative effect on all of us as we start to collectively heal from the impact of sexual violence in our communities – imagine what could be possible for our peoples.'*²

Little is known or studied about indigenous healing practices in the diverse group that falls under the umbrella of 'Asian and Pacific Islanders.' There are numerous Asian Pacific Islander cultural values and healing practices, just as vast as the ocean and the vessels and bridges of the world, thus Asian Americans use a range of healing methods. Traditional Chinese medicine has existed for ~3,000 years. Traditional Vietnamese healing derives from these historical roots. Laotians and Cambodians are influenced more by India and South Asia and have origins in Ayurvedic medicine.³ Polynesian culture and healing practices are influential in Hawai'i and other Pacific Islands. Some of the commonly used Native Hawai'ian traditional healing practices⁴ include: lomilomi (massage), la'au lapa'au (herbal or plant-based healing), la'au Kahea (prayer) and ho'oponopono (conflict resolution).⁵ Indigenous peoples practice traditional healing involves prayer, sacred rituals with songs and dances back into balance and harmony.⁶ Abrera (2009) documents that boat building in the Sama tradition involves prayer for each stage of construction.⁷

Healing has been defined as “the process of bringing together aspects of one’s self, body-mind-spirit, at deeper levels of inner knowing, leading toward integration and balance with each aspect having equal importance and value.”⁸ It is a process of empowerment, of regaining power lost, of restoring rational understanding and of regaining dignity.^{9,10} The goal of healing is to restore balance.¹¹ Healing is a process of connecting and bringing together.

BALIK SA DAGAT BANGKA JOURNEY’S MISISON STATEMENT, VISION AND GOAL

Balik sa Dagat Bangka Journey (BSDBJ) builds and heals our communities by connecting to our cultural practices and our natural world. BSDBJ is a creative and collaborative journey towards a more sustainable and healthy future. Our vision is to fulfill the dream of singers and dancers in canoes on the San Francisco Bay waters to heal Earth. Our goal is to create space where the community is able to safely experience the healing process from trauma, broadly defined and left open for those to define trauma for themselves but for our purposes it includes a range from a decolonizing healing process and/or trauma from any violence.

An invitation from Swinomish~Filipino (who refer themselves as Indi-pinos) friends led to the experience of the Paddle to Swinomish 2011 Tribal Canoe Journey¹², with the theme of “Loving, Caring and Sharing Together.” The Canoe Journey is a drug and alcohol free event, offering paddlers a spiritual and personal journey towards “healing and recovery of culture, traditional knowledge and spirituality.”¹³ BSDBJ advocates a substance free policy (drug and alcohol) during building and journeying both in and out of the bangka.

HEALING ANCESTRAL CULTURAL WOUNDS

Balik sa Dagat Bangka Journey hopes to share strengths of our seafaring ways in order to heal from 'stuff' that has been 'shoved under the rug' - the complex issues that are difficult to address or voice over time. Creating a safe space allows those who have not been able to share their voices to heal from the cultural historical trauma¹⁴ that has been passed on from generation to generation.

PEACE BANGKA, PEACE CANOE

The purpose of this shared training is to empower participants in a safe environment to experience the healing capabilities of creating with our hearts, our hands, our minds, our bodies and our spirit. The full day workshop will include movement of the mind, sounds, sharing stories, writing, and mini-craft-building ending with a collective launch and celebration.

ACTIVITIES

Section 2. A.M. ICEBREAKER: WAKE UP! BANGON! (ARISE! in Bisayan)

TIME: 5 min

SUPPLIES: comfortable shoes and loose clothing, open space for group activity

SECTION 2A. SAMPLE WARM UP EXERCISES

Section 3. ACTIVITY #1: BANGKA JOURNEY: BRIDGES ON WATER (in 5 parts)

TIME: 60 min total for the five sections: 1A, 1B, 1C, 1D and 1E

SUPPLIES: butcher paper, markers, tape

Section 3. ACTIVITY #1A. QUICK INTRODUCTION OF PEACE BANGKA (CANOE)

TIME: 5 min

PURPOSE: Introduce the Peace Bangka as an innovative healing tool

Introducing the Peace Bangka as a bridge linked with indigenous roots and has a soul of its own. The bangka is a vessel on a journey. It is a bridge to reconnect, align, transform and heal. The Peace Bangka is the participant(s) as navigators in the journey of life, the sea of life. Facilitator may share The 10 Rules of the Canoe and NAPIESV QUOTES.

Section 3. ACTIVITY #1B. E-MOTION MIND 'MAP' ¹⁵

TIME: 15 min

SUPPLIES NEEDED: hands, open mind, open emotions, voices, bodies, butcher paper, marker (black and various colors if available), tape

PURPOSE: Participants will be introduced to 'E-motion' = Energy in Motion and the "Don't Rules." Participants will briefly experience a sample of a physical and visual release of blocked emotions.

Section 3. ACTIVITY #1C. ROCK THE BANGKA: THINGS PEOPLE KEPT HIDDEN AND NOT TOLD

Trigger Warning: Take care of yourself. Seek support as needed.

TIME: 30 min

SUPPLIES: paper with quotes, a pair of scissors, pens, at least two copies of 10 quotes on cut up paper for participants to use

PURPOSE: To give space for dialogue and healing and go deeper into the healing work, which is why we are here¹⁶ and to acknowledge unhealed wounds to be released/ to be forgiven. An example: Stigma¹⁷ may prevent children of incest, and/or descendants of sexual relations between clergy and women and/or children to readily share about their stories.

Section 3. ACTIVITY #1E. I AM A PEACE BANGKA

TIME: 5 min

PURPOSE:

- 1) To answer the question, 'What does the bangka have to do with me?'
- 2) To share about Austronesian connections. It is reconnecting with ancestral history through the waterways with the bangka as a bridge. The bangka is one way that connects us with the water and the waterways, returning to our roots, returning to the womb, returning to the sea, a step to relearning our languages of the seafaring ways.

Section 5. ACTIVITY #2: JOY MEDITATION

NOTE: There will be two verbal guided short meditations provided for the full day training: the first one in the morning session with simple vocal guidance and the second guided meditation including sound therapy with soothing sounds of the ocean will be in the afternoon session.

TIME: 10 min

SUPPLIES: recorded meditation on YouTube, a projector, 1 Laptop, screen, internet access to YouTube

SPACE: a comfortable and quiet space to sit and meditate. Come with an open mind and open heart.

PURPOSE: Letting Go and Calming the Mind

Section 6. ACTIVITY #3. VOICES OF THE BANGKA (IN 2 PARTS)

TIME: 60 minutes (for both Activities #3A and #3B)

SUPPLIES: butcher paper, markers, tape, projector

OPTIONAL: laptop, screen, speakers, extension cord

OPTIONAL VIDEOS to share:

Choose from a selection of short videos from Balik sa Dagat Bangka Journey with themes of water, air, wood:

- 1) Rock the Bangka Spring 2013 poems available via link
<http://bangkajourney.com/2013/06/01/all-aboardon-pei-qi-xu/>
- 2) Return to the Sea ~ Balik sa Dagat 2012 <http://bit.ly/returntothesea2012>

HANDOUTS: The 10 Rules of the Canoe

PURPOSE:

1. Participants will identify strengths and dreams during the craft-building activity.
2. To learn the value of dreams as guidance and sharing untold stories.
3. Strategize how to respond to sexual violence with accountability, trust, focus on healing, safety and wellness.
4. Introduce water-craft assembling.

Section 6. ACTIVITY #3A. INTRODUCTION TO ROCK THE BANGKA STORIES TIME: 15 minutes

Section 6. ACTIVITY #3B. BE THE PEACE BANGKA: WRITING FROM WHOLENESS

TIME: 45 minutes

SUPPLIES: paper, pens, butcher paper, marker, tape

Small Group Activity Begins:

Part 1. Strength of the Bangka. (5 min)

Part 2. Shifting deeper in the waters. (5 min)

Part 3. Be the Peace Bangka (10 min)

What would a response to sexual violence in our communities look like that was fundamentally about accountability, building trust, healing, safety and wellness?

Large Group Activity Begins: (20 min)

Part 4. Gather as one large group. Facilitator writes responses on a separate butcher paper.

Part 5. Facilitator asks 3 questions below to group.

1. What do we want our children to inherit?
2. What kind of a world do we wish for ourselves and for our children?
3. What does that require of us now?

Part 6. To conclude, find common themes and discuss. With the framework discussed in this section, prepare to assemble your Peace Bangka for the next activity.

This was one of the Peace Bangkas created by this participant, a former refugee, who shared about the necessary mindset of being VICTORIOUS when journeying in the open sea *Not shown in the photo is that the participant included bangkas for the children as they travelled as a family ~ a bangka for the parents and each daughter/son and their families had a bangka. Created during NAPIESV's 1st Summit, San Diego, CA, September 2013. Photo © BSDBJ 2013.

Section 7. LUNCH BREAK TIME: 1 Hour

AFTERNOON SESSION WITH A 10 MIN BREAK

BACK FROM LUNCH ~ RECAP

Time: 5 min

Section 8. P.M. ICEBREAKER: BRUSH AND SHAKE IT OFF!

TIME: 5 min

SUPPLIES: comfortable shoes and loose clothing, open space for group activity. Refer to Section 2A.

Sample Warm Up Exercises

PURPOSE: Give love to your body, yourself

Section 9. ACTIVITY #4) ASSEMBLE YOUR PEACE BANGKA

TIME: 60 min

SUPPLIES NEEDED:

Highly recommend use of recycled items such as recycled non-glossy paper, recycled cards with messages or blank cards, recycled corks, toilet paper tube. For origami paper-bangkas, cut papers to a square form, glue sticks and/or tape, pen, pencil, sharpies, coloring crayons/markers, toothpick, strings. (Search for how to make origami boats online). Include coloring paper with either drawing of canoes for those reluctant to create a watercraft.

Have a first aid kit available i.e. bandaid.

OPTIONAL: For the advanced craft-builder: hand tools such as a hand file, a rasp and small pieces of wood (non-chemically treated) to file/carve a wooden canoe/paddle. Have appropriate waste receptacles for wood shavings.

Section 10. ACTIVITY #5. MOVEMENT/PADDLE DANCE (IN 3 PHASES)

TIME: 180 min total for Activities #5A, #5B and another 60 min for Activity #5C

SUPPLIES:

IPOD/boombox, music CD; comfortable, loose clothing, comfortable shoes, open space, woven floor mats (banig, pronounced buh-NIG), large cloth with ocean colors preferably blue cloth, paddles (if available), mini-bangka model or picture of various vessels for intention, butcher paper, markers, tape; write on a piece of butcher paper the following CATEGORIES: Individual, Family, Community, Institution, and Historical Connection

PURPOSE:

Employing some of the movement techniques introduced sometime earlier in the training i.e. brushing of energy from the body, transforming/releasing traumas and stepping slowly with empowered and focused intention, participants will circle slowly around this "river" of thoughts and be guided in letting their body and motion transform the many words they see into healing, strength and resilience. As the music comes to conclusion participants will be guided in a symbolic release as the "river" flows away in the distance.

Section 10. ACTIVITY #5A. MOVEMENT (PHASE 1 OF 3)

*PLEASE NOTE that this particular scenario can be changed or adjusted to fit the needs of participants as well as the level of experience of those who wish to implement it.

Trigger Warning. The emotional and psychological response can be very powerful and should be supported with experienced caregivers.

At this point, participants continue to build craft-vessel to be completed by next activity.

TIME: 30 min

PURPOSE: Share a journey of healing ~ A brief historical perspective of the value and practice of music and dance.

Facilitator introduces the connection of healing and movement.

Section 11. ACTIVITY #5B. MOVING ON: TRANSFORMATION AND RELEASE (PHASE 2 of 3 of the Movement/Paddle Dance)

At this point, participants will have their crafted sea vessel completed.

TIME: 60-90 min

SUPPLIES:

Erasable markers, paper, pens, tape, a blue fabric, mini-bangkas crafted, IPOD/boombox, music CD, music in the background and the butcher paper with the following CATEGORIES written on it: Individual, Family, Community, Institution, and Historical Connection

PURPOSE: The second phase is movement includes writing about exceptional and unique things that people bring to the world.

Section 12. PM BREAK (10 min)

Optional: Play Music With Gentle Ocean Sounds

Section 13. ACTIVITY #5C. LAUNCH AND CELEBRATE (PHASE 3)

TIME: 60 min

SUPPLIES: 1-2 large cloth with colors of the ocean, completed crafted-bangka, music player, speakers

PURPOSE: Welcoming the dance of healing energies, Empowered by what they bring as we launch and celebrate.

14. CLOSING / EVALUATION

According to Guevarra (2012), the 250 years that Filipinos and Mexicans initially came into contact through Spanish colonialism and their involvement in the Manila-Acapulco galleon trade laid the foundation for what would become a large, cultural, religious, agricultural, and human exchange across the Pacific. Guevarra state that the forces of colonialism and global migration influenced our lives traces back to 250 years of the galleon trade, [whereas], Filipino and Mexican indios and mestizos arrived in each other's countries as slaves, servants, concubines and soldiers (page 9, 13). Though not in numbers comparable with other European powers in the transatlantic slave trade, Spain nonetheless brought slaves as part of the galleon cargo. Pacific ports such as Acapulco were used as docking stations to deliver these slaves into Mexico and other parts of South America. Slaves were also used in conjunction with other local and mixed-race populations to replenish the local supply of Mexican indios who, not even fifty years earlier, were decimated by Spanish diseases. Filipino indios and Chinese and African slaves were thus brought in to supply the demand for indentured labor in what became known as the "Acapulco slave trade." Filipino indio women suffered other indignities. They were used as concubines for Spanish nobles and other officials, who often times impregnated and abandoned them once they reached port. This practice became such a problem that the Spanish Crown wanted to avoid it altogether; thus a decree was issued in 1608 to put an end to this custom: "One prominent official had carried fifteen of these women with him on the voyage. Several were delivered of children by him, while others left the ship at Acapulco in a pregnant condition, 'which made a great scandal.'"
